

RECRUITMENT: CYBER VOLUNTEER

Be part of a family that wants to change the world!

REGULAR BLOGGER

A person that job is to write and submit blog entries regularly on our “Here and There” section within a variety of current topics. The person is responsible to search his/her own topic. The preferred writing style is light and easy to understand, as it is targeted for young people. The person must also participate actively in forums as well help publicize Stitch Tomorrow to their respected community through word of mouth or from their personal accounts on social networking sites (e.g. blogs, Facebook, Twitter, etc).

FASHION REPORTER

A person that job is to report current fashion trends that will be published on our “Here and There” section. The person is responsible to report trends in the form of writing, photographs, and videos. The person must also participate actively in forums as well help publicize Stitch Tomorrow to their respected community through word of mouth or from their personal accounts on social networking sites (e.g. blogs, Facebook, Twitter, etc).

CURRENT AFFAIR REPORTER

A person that job is to report news and current affairs that will be published on our “Here and There” section, particularly within the field of social and political issues. The person is responsible to report trends in the form of writing, photographs and videos. The content of the report should be delivered light and easy to understand, as it is targeted for young people. The person must also participate actively in forums as well help publicize Stitch Tomorrow to their respected community through word of mouth or from their personal accounts on social networking sites (e.g. blogs, Facebook, Twitter, etc).

Stitch Tomorrow is strictly youth-led. Applicants must be between the ages 15 until 25.

Our work hours are flexible enough for applicants to still manage school work effectively while working with our team.

Apply online through the “Get Involved” link at www.stitchtomorrow.org

